VILLA MEN HERE?

Propaganda Headquarters Are Opened in City, Says Letter.

Will Furnish Press of Kansas With Real News.

Pancho Villa propaganda headquarters have been established in Topeka. Villa propagandists are in charge of the office which is located at Room 340 Hotel Willard. Also the Villa propagandists stand ready and anxious to supply the press of the state with news concerning the bandit chieftain. And moreover the local Villa headquarters is in daily telegraphic communication with the general staff headquarters of the bandit leader in Mexico.

These facts, or statements, are substantiated in a letter found fluttering its endless way along a Kansas avenue gutter today. The letter attracted attention of a passerby, was picked up, and since it was addressed to the press was turned over to the Topeka State Journal. The letter is dated "Villa Headquarters, Room 340 Hotel Willard." No town is given in the date line, but according to the police there is a rooming house called the Hotel Willard located between Third and Fourth streets on the west side of Kansas avenue.

The letter to the press from Villa headquarters in Topeka follows:

Villa Headquarters, Room 340, Hotel Willard.

To the Press: Since the beginning of the opening breach between General Villa and General Carranza, the Villa headquarters here to take steps to counteract the publicity campaign of constitutionalists in Washington, or to contradict the many erroneous statements emanating from this source.

This campaign on the part of Carranza has now become so obviously designed to bolster up a failing cause, that this bureau is established to present, for the first time the correct Villa side of the dispute between himself and Carranza, to refute extravagant and misleading representations and to furnish the press from time to time facts concerning the Mexican situation. The writer is in daily touch, by telegraph, with General Villa's Juarez representatives, who in turn in constant communication with headquarters. Statements issued from this office may therefore be relied upon.

Soldiers Will Have Big Day at Gage Park on 4th.

The largest crowd ever assembled in Gage park is expected there July 4 for the big celebration and state-wide reunion of Kansas soldiers. Plans for the festival are complete, the committee announces. Maj. Gen. W. M. Wright, who commanded both the Thirty-fifth and Eighty-ninth divisions, will be here to deliver an Independence day address and greet the men of his former commands.

R. R. Baer, chairman of the military committee of the Chamber of Commerce urges all women who can do so to put some extra "chow" in their lunch baskets for soldiers who have no relatives in the city. Both the soldiers and the women with the baskets will be registered at a booth in charge of the Military Sisterhood in order that the two may be brought together.

There will be many interesting features on the program, including community singing and the presentation of the last of the medals to the returned soldiers of Shawnee county. All soldiers who have not received medals are urged to report.

ALLEN IS RILED

Pleasure Seekers Get Reduced Rates on Railroads.

Harvest Hands Have To Pay Full Fare for Tickets.

Governor Allen is not pleased because reduced rates have been granted excursionists and pleasure seekers, while the farm laborer who comes to the Kansas wheat fields must pay full fare. Applications for reduced harvest field rates have been rejected in Washington on several occasions. None the less the Kansas governor has again asked for rate concessions in order to relieve the labor shortage.

Many telegrams have been received at the governor's office concerning the need of the field growers for additional men in the fields. Many counties need from 300 to 2,000 harvest hands each, according to reports to the governor. The writer is to be put in the federal railroad administration was sent by Governor Allen while he stopped in Topeka a few hours Sunday night after a ten days' speaking tour in other states. The governor left Topeka on a night train for Oklahoma City, where he speaks today.

BUILD 250 FEET A DAY

Construction of East Sixth Street Road Progressing Nicely.

The construction of the East Sixth street road, which will form a ten mile link in the great tort-to-for highway, is progressing at the rate of 250 feet a day. The first concrete was poured June 23, although the grading is completed far into the country. The contract calls for the completion of this road by November 15. This is the first of Shawnee county's proposed network of hard surfaced roads to receive federal aid.

Another road that is expected to be completed by 1920 is West Tenth road, which is now being graded preparatory to being paved. Other proposed roads are Capital highway, connecting the northern and southern parts of the state. Shawnee's part of this road will extend north on Central avenue past the county farm to the Jackson county line, with branches running to Meriden and Elmont. The paving of the upper Silver Lake road and the building of a water tight gravel road from Topeka past the Calhoun bluffs is also proposed.

The contractors say the building may be held up some owing to scarcity of labor and they feel that the harvest is at present more important than the roads, they say.

WICHITA VS. TOPEKA

Both Cities Bidding for Headquarters of American Legion.

The state executive committee of the American Legion, which meets in Independence, Kan., in July, will decide on a permanent location for the state secretary's office. It is now in Emporia, altho I. E. Lambert, who has been secretary, resigned to accept a position in the state advocate general's department in Washington.

Wichita is after the office, and prominent men of that city are trying to get the committee to locate it there, because they see its probable value to the city in future years. However, the two Topeka members of the executive committee, Thomas Amory Lee and Arch W. Jarrell, are going to exert all their efforts in trying to bring the secretary's office to Topeka.

OLD FEDERAL PRISON TO GO.

Historic Penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth Passes This Summer.

Leavenworth, Kan., June 30.—The passing of the old Federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth will come this summer, according to Col. Sedgwick Rice, commandant of the U. S. disciplinary barracks. Plans for the rebuilding of the shop and office buildings have been completed, which will do away with the structure built in the Civil War period.

The original penitentiary was abandoned by the federal authorities when the new prison was constructed some years ago and was taken over by the army to become an institution where offenders against military law could be confined. Later, when the treatment of army offenders was changed, the institution became known as the disciplinary barracks.

A few years ago, a part of the old prison structure was rebuilt and modern cell houses installed. Imprisoned men at the barracks are to be used to carry out the reconstruction.

KANSAS "ALL PRESENT."

Every Methodist Superintendent in State Is at Columbus.

Columbus, O., June 30.—For the first time in the history of Kansas every district superintendent of the Methodist church—and there are sixteen of them—is out of the state. They are in Columbus attending the big centenary celebration of the church and had a part on the day's program. Many Kansas Methodist pulpits also missed their regular pastors today and some of their most enthusiastic workers. They also were attending the celebration here.

Among the Topekaans to arrive at Columbus within the last few days are the Rev. and Mrs. H. O. Holter. Two of their sons have been here for the last two weeks.

KILLED IN SELF-DEFENSE.

Marian Laughlin Goes Free After Coroner's Verdict.

El Dorado, June 30.—The jury in the coroner's inquest on the death of John K. White, killed early Saturday morning by Marian Laughlin, of this city, returned a verdict today of self-defense. As soon as the verdict was announced, Laughlin, who has been held in the county jail for twenty-four hours, was turned loose and the criminal action against him halted.

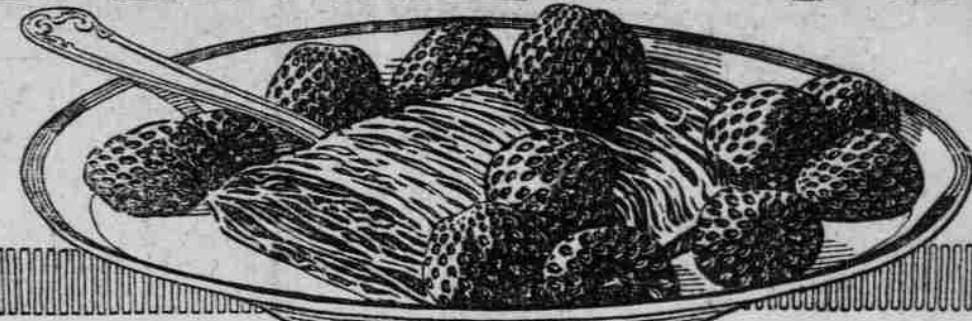

Laughlin, who was beaten about the head by White, is considerably better, altho it is said his condition will be serious for several days because of a skull fracture.

MOTOR TRANSPORT CENTER.

Leavenworth Will Be Leading Quarters of Big Movement.

Leavenworth, Kan., June 30.—Fort Leavenworth will soon become one of the motor transport centers of the United States army, according to official announcements made recently. Large shops are to be built at the army post and from 1,200 to 1,600 men will be stationed at the center.

The Explosion of an Ancient Legend

A LETTER received last week from one who signs himself "Constant User" asks why the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) insists that the gravity test for gasoline is a fallacy.

Not having his address we are answering the inquiry here.

When the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) began manufacturing gasoline the surest, safest, most practical method known for determining the quality of the product was by testing it with a hydrometer.

In those days all of the crude oil used came from a single locality. It was of the same base always and the products refined from it were uniform.

As the industry grew and oil wells were found in widely separated localities it was discovered that the crude varied so greatly even when taken from wells in the same locality that the hydrometer no longer could be depended upon to indicate the quality of the refined product with satisfactory exactness.

Some other system of measurement had to be used.

The chemical engineers employed by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), who were asked to solve the problem, suggested that the boiling points of the several fractions, which go to make gasoline, would give the desired result. They would be constant and the usefulness of the product would not vary so long as the range of boiling point fractions remained unchanged.

The practical usefulness of the suggestion was instantly recognized, and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) immediately adopted it as the basis of their manufacturing practice.

By making its product conform to the boiling point standard, it was possible to guarantee uniform results at all times, even though the hydrometer might show variation in gravity.

We know uniformity is of the most vital importance to the ultimate consumer. That is why we insist that gravity is of no value in determining the value of gasoline as a fuel, because it can not indicate the gaps.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is steadfast in its endeavor to render the greatest service possible to the motoring public and it is constantly trying to so improve the fuel and oils it sells as to give to its patrons a greater value for the money they spend with it.
